

BURBANK CANNERY

THE HINCKLEY-BEACH PLANT ENLARGED TO PREPARE FOR BIG SEASON

R. L. Hinckley, who formerly resided in Glendale on North Jackson street, and who is one of the partners in the Hinckley-Beach Canning Company of Burbank, says that he and his partners are making preparations for a big season; that they have built a new structure adjoining their former main building in the shape of an L, which is 100 feet wide and 140 feet long and which will take the place of the old one as a factory, the original building being used altogether for a warehouse. The new one is fully equipped with new machinery for putting up apricots and peaches, and a new 150-horse power engine and boiler. Their plant has a ground space of 3 1/2 acres and they are prepared to furnish camp sites to employees who wish to use them.

The outlook, Mr. Hinckley says, is very good. A large fruit crop is assured with a big demand for canned goods. They expect to devote all the resources of their plant during the summer to fruit, but will can tomatoes late in the season, and are planning to operate until December. He takes pride in the fact that they now have one of the finest plants from a sanitary standpoint in this part of the country, and when it is again in operation he invites his friends to come up and inspect it. The season will begin about the middle of June. The fruit which they will can comes from the San Fernando Valley.

PATCHED EGGS HATCH

Mr. R. Gilbert, of 622 South Columbus avenue, says he is not one of the poultry raisers who had trouble with unfertile eggs. His flock is very small now, he having sold most of his birds early in the year when unable to give them needed care, but so far his hatches have been around 80 to 90 per cent. He relates one novel experience. An egg was found under a setting hen with a hole in the shell. None of the contents had escaped, so he sealed up the hole and put the egg back under the hen. When hatching had begun this egg was stepped on by the hen after it was pipped and the shell considerably mashed. Still it brought forth a chick which is today one of the strongest of the hatch. A lady on Lomita avenue used this same plan on two turkey eggs after the shells had been cracked, sealing them up with tire tape and glue. Both hatched strong little turkeys.

OLD-FASHIONED STORM IN MISSOURI

D. W. Myers, of 120 Isabel street, is just in receipt of a paper from his old home town, King City, Gentry county, Missouri, which describes a terrific rainfall during the night of May 2d which measured six to eight inches, which washed out tracks and roads in low places, swept away fences, filled streams to overflowing and badly washed fields. A farmer at Union Star lost 125 to 150 hogs and shoots in a feed lot which were swept away. The water was so high that it damaged the lower strata of corn in his cribs. He also suffered from lightning damage, for the heavens were ablaze the night through. The following evening rain again fell in torrents accompanied by cyclonic winds which, however, did not descend low enough to do serious injury, although in a few places the "twister" dipped down and riddled trees and caused other damage. It was a real, old-fashioned middle-west storm, a storm which will revive vivid memories in the minds of many Glendalians; yet our friends back there often wonder how Californians can dwell in security in a land subject to "those terrible earthquakes."

LYNCH WILL REPORT

ENGINEER WILL GIVE COST OF INSTALLATION OF TELEPHONE SYSTEM

This evening at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, Engineer H. B. Lynch, of the Public Service Department, will give a report as to the cost of outside construction of a municipal telephone system. Many people who are interested in the installation of a municipal telephone system in Glendale, provided present toll rates to Los Angeles remain in effect, will be present to hear this report.

It has been decided by the Greater Glendale Development Association that the only way to get relief from the excessive rates inaugurated by the Telephone Company is to install a municipal system that will furnish a more modern and up-to-date local service for probably half the rate of the present system.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE

SIXTY INSTRUCTORS IN GLENDALE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS FORM AN ASSOCIATION

A meeting of about sixty teachers in the Glendale Grammar Schools was held at the Intermediate Wednesday afternoon to take the preliminary steps to effect an organization to promote child welfare and the interests of teachers.

Miss Clara Midcalf was made temporary chairman and five different committees were appointed, viz., publicity, finance, constitution, and by-laws, nominations and programs.

A fine address was made by Miss Vande Goorberg, president of the Los Angeles Teachers' Association, in which she pointed out the benefits to be derived by organization and the aid it afforded in obtaining things which could not be secured without organization.

The local teachers expressed themselves as opposed to anything which had the appearance of a labor union, and appointed a committee to wait on the Board of Trustees of Glendale Graded Schools to explain the purpose of the organization and secure the co-operation of Board members.

Mention was made of the campaign of publicity which is being inaugurated by teachers to advertise the work of the schools, the article in last week's "Literary Digest" and the large paid advertisement of school exhibits placed in Los Angeles newspapers recently, being referred to. To defray the cost of that advertising it was explained that L. A. teachers contributed five per cent. of one month's pay.

The next meeting of the local association will be held next Monday afternoon when a draft of the constitution and by-laws will be presented and a permanent organization will be effected.

CELEBRATES FIFTH BIRTHDAY

In celebration of the fifth birthday of her little daughter Barbara, Mrs. Sandelin, of 1235 East Wilson avenue, entertained Wednesday twenty-six small guests, all of them pupils in the Broadway Kindergarten, which Barbara attends. They were brought to the Sandelin home by their teacher, Mrs. Maude Salisbury, at 10:30 a. m. and they had a fine time playing games, and singing songs. Their class picture was taken and they enjoyed party refreshments in the form of a big birthday cake, ice cream and candy. The hostess was assisted by her house guest, Mrs. Maude Paine. One of the birthday tributes which greatly pleased the little celebrant was a large bouquet of roses presented to her by a boy pupil in the school.

CHAPTER L MEETS

EVANGELINE HUNTLEY GUEST OF HONOR AT LUNCHEON AT HOME OF MRS. TEMPLE

The all-day meeting and luncheon of Chapter L of the P. E. O., which was entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Temple, on Orange street, was an occasion of special interest and pleasure. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Ed Lee, Miss Dorothy Lee, Mrs. Robert Blackburn, Miss Byram and Mrs. Reed.

Miss Evangeline Huntley was a guest of honor and to her was given by the chapter a set of silver spoons, the customary bridal gift to members. A very attractive package it made, tied as it was with orange blossoms, and the speech with which Mrs. Pearl Tower presented the gift was a credit to the chapter.

Decorations were in the P. E. O. colors, yellow and white.

Other guests were Mrs. J. Herbert Smith of Chapter A. H., Mrs. Walter Spence of Chapter B. A., and Mrs. Ripley of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the house guest of Mrs. Lusby.

The chief item on the program was the entertaining report of the convention at Palo Alto made by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Chapter. About thirty members were present.

AUTO COLLISION

An auto collision which inflicted only material damage occurred Tuesday afternoon on Harvard street near the High School when a car owned by the Glendale Market and driven by Verne Wilson and an auto owned by W. A. Gibson, of Windsor Road, came together. Verne Wilson claims that he had the right of way but says he does not know who was to blame. The car he was driving was considerably injured. The fender and running board on the Gibson machine were damaged some. Neither driver suffered any injury.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair except cloudy or foggy tonight and in the early morning.

BURIAL OF EDITH CAVELL

MILITARY ESCORT ATTENDS BODY TO WESTMINSTER ABBEY, WHERE MEMORIAL SERVICE IS HELD

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, May 15.—The body of Edith Cavell, the English nurse executed by the Germans during their invasion of Belgium, arrived at Victoria Station this morning, where it was met by a military escort of honor and escorted to Westminster Abbey, where a memorial service was held. It was then taken to Norwich for burial. The services were very impressive and were attended by many prominent persons.

SQUADRON FLIGHT SET FOR TODAY

DIRIGIBLE C-5, AFTER SUCCESSFUL TRIP, IS BEING PREPARED FOR DIRECT FLIGHT TO ENGLAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, May 15.—Navy dirigible C-5 reached St. Johns, Newfoundland, from Montauk at 10 o'clock this morning after a successful flight.

Seaplane N-C 4, en route from Chatham to Trepassey, via Halifax, left Halifax this morning at 9 o'clock.

Commander Howard of the trans-Atlantic squadron announced that it would leave Trepassey for the Azores this afternoon if the weather continued favorable. There was every indication of favorable weather this morning.

Washington, May 15 (Later).—Seaplane N-C 4, after leaving Halifax, encountered engine trouble, according to navy reports. The seaplane circled around, giving rise to reports that it was returning to Halifax. Instead it alighted on the surface of the ocean, completed repairs and resumed flight. At noon it was well on its way to Newfoundland. Experts consider this feat remarkable and say that it augurs well for the success of the trans-Atlantic flight.

Noon reports made it doubtful whether the planes would start from Trepassey this afternoon. The weather in mid-ocean was reported to be growing unfavorable. It was announced that about twelve hours would be allowed the N-C 4 for repairs and that after the rest at Trepassey it will start for the Azores if the weather is favorable.

The trip of the dirigible to St. Johns was highly successful. The balloon is now being prepared for direct flight to England.

CLEMENCEAU DENIES GERMAN REQUEST

HUNS ASKED ALLIES TO CALL INTERNATIONAL LABOR CONFERENCE AT VERSAILLES TO ADOPT PROGRAM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, May 15.—The "Big Four" have consulted experts regarding the military and naval terms of the Austrian peace treaty.

Clemenceau, replying to the German note asking for a revision of the labor provisions of the peace treaty, declared no changes would be made.

American Ambassador Page left this morning for Rome. He admitted he had failed to effect a compromise on the Fiume question. It was learned that the German delegation plans to refuse to accept the provisions of the treaty for the kaiser's trial.

The text of the German note on the labor provisions and Clemenceau's answer have been made public. The Germans asked the Allies to call international labor conferences at Versailles to adopt an international labor program similar to the present German labor institutions.

LIGHT PENALTIES FOR GERMAN ASSASSINS

OFFICER CONVICTED OF COMPLICITY IN MURDER OF LIEBKNECHT SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS IN PRISON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Berlin, May 15.—Captain Runge, convicted of complicity in the murder of Carl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg, Spartacan leaders, has been sentenced to two years' imprisonment. Lieutenant Vogel, against whom the same charges were brought, has been given two and a half years. Five others were acquitted.

WEINSTOCK MAKES FRESH STATEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

San Francisco, May 15.—State Market Commissioner Weinstock issued a statement today that profiteering has been rampant in the fishing industry since the State Fish Exchange stopped fixing prices. He declared that there has been a 17 per cent advance, although the catches have been larger than ever. He charged that 32 per cent of the fish caught had been diverted from the market and made into fertilizer.

1920 ENCAMPMENT AT SANTA BARBARA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Santa Ana, May 15.—The Department Grand Army Encampment, now in session here, has selected Santa Barbara for the encampment of 1920 of the California-Nevada Department.

MICHELIN KNOWS HENS

KNOWLEDGE AND EFFICIENCY BRING SUCCESS ON MAIER POULTRY RANCH

Glendale people who have been attending the health lectures which have become such a fad since the war emphasized the advantages of physical fitness, have doubtless heard much about the remedial effects of out-door exercise, particularly walking; but few people realize how many pleasant prescriptions of that kind could be taken in Glendale by choosing a different direction each time.

A reader who was testing it out yesterday took a car to the northern limits of the city and then wandered up through Casa Verdugo and along Kenneth Road west to the Burbank line. The air was like wine, carrying the honey-sweet fragrance of blossoming orange orchards and of roses everywhere draping fences and festooning the houses. Then there were golden pillars of Scotch broom and the humbler blossoms of garden parkings, set off by the fresh green of trees newly leaved and by the softened radiance of late afternoon. In the distance was Glendale "proper," as we say, mysterious as a dream city in its thin blue enveloping haze. All the cares of the day, including the incipient cold, folded their tents and life seemed all poetry until a practical, prosaic sign was seen at the beginning of a lovely avenue of Ragged Robin rose trees leading to a distant cottage. This sign advertised the Maier Poultry Ranch. A further penetration showed the feathered stock distributed in a series of yards connected with houses in which they were just beginning to seek the roosts.

As they were fine looking birds, curiosity tempted to a further inspection and finally the poultryman in charge of the ranch, his wife and baby, were found.

The "man of the hour" was discovered to be S. Michelin, manager of the business, a Serbian, who has made a great study of poultry raising and has gotten down to the first principles which spell efficiency. He has been seven years in the business—three in the Argentine on a big English poultry ranch and four in this country.

The Maier plant where he now "demonstrates" has 1,200 laying hens and about 1,500 chicks—all White Leghorns and all Hozanized. The sanitary and other conditions seemed quite ideal and Mr. Michelin stated the losses on his first and best hatch of 700 chicks were but 4 per cent, and on the second hatch 9 per cent, which is low.

Automatic devices, wherever practicable, have been introduced, as for instance the thermostat which regulates the temperature of the brooder rooms. In these rooms, by the way, the corners are all cut off by inclined planes of lath that prevent any huddling in corners or at the sides, which so often causes suffocation, overheating and fatal colds.

The ranch is marketing about 600 eggs a day at 50c a dozen for the full sized eggs and 47c for the pullet output.

Conditions now are such as to encourage an increased output and a structure to house incubators of 6,000-egg capacity is now being built. Two incubators of 500-egg capacity are now in use.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

EXPLAINED AND INDORSED BY EDWARD SPARROW JEROME IN FINE ADDRESS

A small but very attentive audience gathered at the Masonic Temple Wednesday evening to hear what Edward Sparrow Jerome had to say on the League of Nations.

In a plain, unpretentious statement in which he did not scorn to use the vernacular of the schoolboy and the doughboy, he made clear the purpose of the league and the bodies which are to manage its affairs under the provisions of its constitution. He explained that as at present constituted thirty-two countries will be represented in the League which in its meetings might be termed the assembly in which each country has one vote, the executive branch of the League consisting of a council of nine made up of the five great allies and four others chosen by the smaller nations to represent them. Thus the council consists of Great Britain, France, Italy, the United States and Japan, the other twenty-seven countries being represented in the council by delegates from Brazil, Greece, Spain and Belgium. Geneva, in Switzerland, which was a centrally located neutral, has been selected as the capital, and Sir Erick Drummond is to be the executive officer to look after League affairs, much as the president of a bank directs its policy, subject to the will of the directors who have been elected by the stockholders, the thirty-two nations representing the stockholders and the council the Board of Directors.

Germany, he explained, is not in the league. Even if peace had been made, she could not be admitted, he declared, until she had shown her sincere willingness to take her place subject to all the conditions of the League constitution. In this connection he likened Germany to the prodigal son who squandered his substance and finally came down to living upon the husks. The prodigal came to himself and said: "This is no place for me. I will arise and go to my father. I will say I have done wrong." When Germany has that spirit, Mr. Jerome declared, she will be taken in. "Until she does in humbleness of spirit admit her wrong, she has no one to blame but herself for her isolation."

The constitution, which consists of twenty-six articles, makes provision, he showed, for the admission of new countries, and the neutrals, Holland, Sweden, Denmark, etc., will undoubtedly come in. Any self-governing body can be admitted. Alaska could not because she is not entirely self-governing, but is subject to the United States and is therefore represented by the United States in the League.

He pointed out that the two chief objections to the League which have been made by critics, are, interference with the sovereignty of nations, and trespass upon the Monroe doctrine. The League, when perfected, will undertake to protect each of its members from external aggression and this will mean that an attack upon one will mean an attack upon the whole which must be resisted by the whole thirty-two, after the council of nine has determined the merits of the case and who is the aggressor. The League will not, he declared, interfere in any manner with the internal affairs of nations. The curtailing of sovereignty is only such as naturally results from association. Whenever one resides in a civilized country his freedom is curtailed insofar as he is subject to the laws of that country, but the curtailment is of benefit to society, and that, he says, will be the result of the League of Nations. We may not be permitted to go down and clean things up in Mexico when that country gets obstreperous, but better still we can refer her case to the League and have our cause backed by the other thirty-one subscribers to the League, which will be, he assumes, an advantage which far outweighs our loss of sovereignty in unhampered ability to make war.

The League is primarily an organization to put down war, and horrible as has been the late conflict, Mr. Jerome considers it a blessing in disguise if it leads to this great step in the advance of nations and in bringing about that condition of peace on earth, good will toward man, about which we have been talking for so many centuries.

The Monroe doctrine, he explained, is not American, he said, but was made in Great Britain in the City of London by the great English minister, George Channing, to off-set the autocracy of Russia, Prussia and Austria, who had banded together to change the map of Europe and dominate the world. To our Minister, Mr. Rush, Channing said: "You would

AUSTRIANS NOT SO OBNOXIOUS TO FRENCH

It shows a singular phase of character that the French people show very little enmity to the Austrians. While the German envoys were received with utter contempt and herded away from possible assaults, the Austrian delegates were received with apparent friendliness. One reason is that the Prussians are hereditary enemies of the French and the latter can never forget the humiliations heaped upon them in 1871 by Wilhelm I and Bismarck. It is well known that Austria really began the war, but Germany's atrocious assault on helpless Belgium and the unparalleled destruction her armies inflicted upon Eastern France made the very name of Prussia a stench in the nostrils of the French.

LEST WE FORGET

While Germany is wailing and ranting and threatening over the peace demands of the Allies, declaring them confiscatory, insulting, humiliating, etc., and declaring the people will spring to arms as one man before they accept them, it is well for us to remember the peace terms proposed by the Huns in 1916, when they considered they had the Allies beaten. These terms were agreed upon by German commercial associations, professors and noted writers, and petitions asking for their submission to the Allies were sent to the kaiser by these men. These terms included the annexation of all of Belgium, the French channel coast line and immense coal fields around Lens, and half of Russia, and the demand of a huge indemnity from England, all that could be wrung from her. The world hopes that not one jot will be abated from the terms of the Allies, humiliating as they may seem to the Germans. The only good Prussian is one made harmless by force.

GIVE HIM BACK HIS JOB

Three million young fellows dropped their work to grab a gun and start to chase the Huns back to Berlin. They did a good job and are now returning home. Too many of them are finding themselves "out of luck" at the old stand. The condition is all wrong. There should be no hesitation in giving them back their old jobs.

And when a Yank is put back to work he should be accorded much consideration. He has put up with a whole lot of things and the most natural thing in the world is for him to think he is entitled to some credit. He may think that he is just a little better than the average fellow who was not in the service—and he is. He deserves much more credit than he seems to be receiving—but, above all things, he deserves to have a good job in the country he fought for.

The United States Employment bureau is doing all it possibly can to help the returning military men get employment, but the task is a tremendous one. The bureau does very well in the larger cities, but it fails to reach out to the country boy. So, in the smaller communities the matter of giving the soldier fellows a square deal on their return is largely up to individuals.

THE DONKEY AND THE DEER

There is an Italian proverb which says: "He that is a donkey and believes himself a deer finds out his mistake at the leaping of a ditch." Which is Guinea for the American doctrine: "Don't start anything you can't finish!" That's a heap of advice which most of us need.

In the first place, if you start anything with the expectation of carrying it through on pure hate, you can't finish it satisfactorily. You will land in the ditch, a donkey.

In the second place, don't start anything with the expectation of getting away with it by sheer force of prevarication, for you will land, feet up, in the ditch, a donkey. The guilt of a liar is written all over his face. People see that guilt, and you can no more fool them with mere words than a bum actor can make an audience think he is great.

Be honest. Then you will never be misunderstood nor be taken for what you aren't. There are worse things than even a donkey when, with head erect and tail over the dashboard, it goes about its business and pretends to be nothing more than it is. Every four-flusher meets his stand-patter.—Exchange.

THE CHANGE TO PROHIBITION

The argument that the change to prohibition in California could not be effected without a real financial convulsion and severe losses to the owners of wine vineyards is proving to be a bogey man. In the long run, the change will mean greater wealth and prosperity for the state because the land now in wine grapes will be used for more profitable purposes, which will call for the employment of more people.

In Fresno County one tract of 3,700 acres of wine grapes has been sold and will be subdivided into small farms. There will be scores of families settled on this tract, and they will be engaged in raising deciduous fruits, alfalfa and farm crops.

The Mission Vineyard property at Cucamonga has just been sold and the acreage will be subdivided and put into other crops. The change will result in an increased population and a more profitable use of the land.

Perhaps the most striking illustration of all, however, is still nearer home, right in Riverside County. Reference is made to the Stern winery in the West Riverside section. The winery is being converted into one of the finest fruit and vegetable canneries in the state. Several hundred people will be employed and a large acreage will be put into vegetables and fruit that is not now improved. The wine grapes owned by the Stern interests are being taken out and the land put into tomatoes, deciduous fruit and alfalfa.

In the long run the land will yield much better returns than before, because for a long time the production of wine grapes has not been attended with much profit. And a great canning industry is being established which will be a tremendous factor in the agricultural development of parts of Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

Prosperity is the handmaid of prohibition; and the wine grape people are already finding that to be true.

GOD'S VENGEANCE

When the Ruler of the Universe said, "Vengeance is mine. I will surely repay," it was not an idle or figurative speech. He meant exactly what he said.

We fuss and fret, and make our futile plans for revenge or punishment; but while we are planning, Divine Justice goes quietly along, and all at once we see Divine fulfillment.

There has been a feeling, fairly widespread, that Germany escaped too easily because the actual fighting was not carried on to German soil. But now the Austrians and Hungarians are doing to one another what common justice seemed to indicate that the Allied armies should do. They are doing it thoroughly, too—murdering high and low, fighting, burning houses and towns, laying waste or neglecting fields they should be tilling. And the terror is creeping into Germany.

All this without aggression on the part of the Allied armies, and without the loss of life which must have occurred within our ranks had we carried out the vengeance ourselves.

In Turkey, too, brigandage is spreading. Villages already lie waste and the cities and men in authority in them are all menaced.

It is the stern fulfillment of the pledge from which there is no escape. And while it sometimes seems as if God's justice moved far too slowly for man's impatient desire, it moves so surely and with such fitness that it puts all mortal efforts to shame.—Riverside Press.

THURSDAY'S INTERMEDIATE GAME

The Thursday noon game on Intermediate field was between Tigers and Cubs. Gordon Richardson pitched for the Tigers, Harold Thompson for the Cubs. In the second inning Gordon Richardson made a home run for the Tigers, and in the fourth and last inning Robert Reed made a home run for the same team. The inning ended with a score of 7 to 4 in favor of Tigers.

RETURN OF MARGERY IMLER

Miss Margery Imler returns to Glendale May 30th, when the spring semester at the State University closes. The first week in June is Senior week when many festivities take place, but she is cutting them out to hurry home, as she is to be bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Evangeline Huntley, June 3d.

Miss Imler is having the great pleasure of participating in the annual "Parthenia," a Greek pageant or masque, which was suspended during the war after being an annual event for many seasons held in Faculty Glade. This year it is to take place in the Greek Theatre Saturday, May 17th. It is a beautiful spectacle and it is considered quite an honor to take part.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Proctor and little son, Donald, are at Mrs. Proctor's parents', Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Spickerman, 335 Salem street.

Miss Ruth Ryan, of Los Angeles, was a guest for dinner and the evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hunt, of 1201 Viola avenue, Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue entertained at dinner Friday evening, old friends from Colorado Springs, the party including Mrs. Harry Hughes, Miss Hughes and Mrs. Tipton.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower left Monday for Corona and Riverside and while absent expected to attend the meeting of the Southern California Medical Society. He planned to get home Thursday.

Children of the Cerritos School very much appreciated the action of the Fire Department in sprinkling the school campus and laying the dust on the athletic field, which had seriously interfered with the games.

Miss Helen Brown, of 163 1/2 South Glendale avenue, is motoring through to San Francisco with a party of friends. They expect to take about three weeks for the trip, stopping for a few days at several places.

Mrs. Gilmore Walker, of Burchett street, on Sunday said good-bye to her daughter, Mrs. Earl Shanemeyer, who is returning to her home in Peoria, Illinois, after ten weeks in Glendale, where her friends made it exceedingly pleasant by entertainments in her honor.

Included in the delegation which has gone to Santa Ana to attend the Department Convention of the W. R. C. are Mrs. Lillian Peckham, president of the Glendale organization, Mrs. Adelaide Imbler, Mrs. Edith Bruck, Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel and Mrs. J. S. Ripley. The convention will close Friday night, following the election and installation of Department officers.

CLEM MOORE ON TELEPHONE SITUATION

Referring to the telephone situation, Clem Moore remarked this morning: "I suppose the telephone officials are counting on the fickleness of subscribers in not standing together in carrying out any proposed policy. Heretofore it has always been hard to get Glendale people to stay in harness and pull together—to get them to stay with a proposition. But this is something in which there is no sectional question involved, something which affects the pocketbook and other interests of every citizen, and if they will stand shoulder to shoulder and fight to a finish, they can accomplish what they go after, I am certain. I am heartily in sympathy with the action taken by the Greater Glendale Development Association and am ready to do what the signers to that petition do. Without Los Angeles connections the telephone is of little value to me, as I seldom make use of it for local communication. If we are forced to get along without telephones we may find we are just as well off. For local service they are certainly not worth the rate charged."

CHOIR PRACTICE

The regular practice of St. Mark's choir will be held this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson. All members are requested to be present.

Practice for the children's choir will be held tomorrow afternoon (Friday) in the Guild Hall of the church at 4 o'clock.

UNITY CHAPTER

Unity Chapter, No. 116, will hold a regular convocation Thursday evening, May 15, 1919, at 7:30, at Masonic Temple, when the P. M. and the M. E. M. will be conferred. All companions welcome.

better get busy and serve notice on your side of the water against the aggression of those predatory nations." James Monroe, as President of the United States, promulgated the doctrine in a speech before Congress, but no legislation has ever been passed by Congress making it a law. It is simply a sentiment, policy or American idea. Sir Robert Cecil has declared that Article 10 of the League constitution extends the Monroe doctrine throughout the world.

He showed how this constitution follows in a general way the constitution of the United States which Gladstone declared was the greatest thing the human mind had produced. Instead of being the instrument of thirteen colonies, this is a document to guide in the ways of peace thirty-two nations, 13 on this side of the water including the United States, Canada, the South American countries, ten in Europe, seven in Asia, and two in Africa.

Every argument against the League of Nations, he affirmed, was made against the constitution of the United States when it was before the thirteen colonies for adoption and when Washington declared if they did not ratify it then, the next time it would be written in blood.

To show the burden which war imposes on the world he stated that previous to the war our annual budget was $968,000,000 or 23c a head. In February of the present year that indebtedness had increased to $25,000,000,000 and is now $8.50 per head. The League of Nations, he said, is designed to put an end to wars and stop that kind of expenditures.

He showed, too, how the economic boycott will be used by the council, if pushed to extremity, to enforce the decisions of the League, and how powerful a weapon it will be, and he expressed the hope that we are coming to the day predicted by Victor Hugo, when he said: "The day will come when cannon will be looked upon as a curiosity."

Following this political League will come, in his opinion, a great movement to establish a national policy in regard to armament and an international policy in regard to labor. Plato, he said, dreamed of this thing 2200 years ago, and Henry of Navarre had the same hope of a fraternity of religions.

At the last he referred to the demand of the Senate that it should be represented in the treaty negotiations as entirely unwarranted by precedent or constitutional requirements. He recalled that no Senators were included by Madison in the commission sent to negotiate the treaty with England at Ghent in 1814, although he was one of the framers of the constitution and would be familiar with its provisions and intents. The treaty negotiations following the war with Mexico were conducted by a clerk sent down from Washington without the Senate participating in any way although, of course, the Senate on all such occasions has to ratify a treaty. But when President McKinley sent a commission of five to negotiate a treaty with Spain he included in it three Senators and thus set a precedent on which the Senate is now basing its claims.

He characterized the demand as an unworthy argument, especially if it is carried to the point of defeating a thing of such moment to the whole world, as is this League constitution.

In conclusion he urged all citizens present to use their influence with California's representatives in the Senate to persuade them to vote for the ratification of the League constitution.

EIFFEL TOWER IS DEMOBILIZED

PARIS. (By Mail).—Eiffel Tower has been "demobilized."

After 51 months of active service the 330 meter tower, that every visitor to Paris has marveled at and those who have never visited the French capital have seen represented on post-cards, has been returned to "civil life" and from now on anybody who wishes to do so may ascend to its top for the customary fee.

With the outbreak of war Eiffel Tower was closed to the public. It was even in times of peace a wireless station and now it became the wireless center of France. It was militarized. Soldiers in uniform manned the wireless plant, the elevators, the searchlight on top and civilians were kept at a distance.

In the meantime, Eiffel was talking across the seas to America, the French colonies and the rest of the world, telling the progress of the war. For a long time Eiffel was the only means of communication between France and Roumania and throughout Russia's participation in the hostilities, Eiffel was one of the best "soldiers" in all the Allied Signal Service.

HER PART

Two negro women were discussing the war.

"Well, honey," said Aunt Caroline,
"I done give two sons to this here war."

"Lord chile! That ain't nothin'," replied Matilda. "I got three husbands over there now, and if this last one I got don't do better I'm gwine send him over soon."—From the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

MICHELIN KNOWS HENS

The poultry man was asked whether he kept records of hens with trap-nests to determine whether they were layers or slackers. He smiled and said that he kept records, but added that he bred no slackers and could tell beforehand what the annual egg production of a hen should be.

"How?"

"By measuring the pelvic bone and abdomen," he said. "I can tell how many eggs she ought to produce. A large abdomen means big egg capacity, and a thin pelvic bone means that the eggs can pass. The thicker the bone, the fewer the eggs that can pass and the greater the production of fat."

That seemed to constitute the essential difference between the layer and the table hen, according to his theory.

In selecting cocks to mate with hens kept for egg production the effort is constantly made to keep to the same type and prepotency must be looked for, also, but here nature has set her signal, according to Mr.
Michelin, who says it is determined according as the skull bone behind the ear of the fowl is thick or thin.

His chicken crop this year will include about 400 cockerels, and of these he will keep the best 100 for the breeding pens he will need to supply eggs for his additional incubators, and the balance will probably be sold to breeders instead of going to market.

He apparently has no rigid system of feeding, but keeps in close touch with his birds and varies their diet as conditions demand. He strives to keep them healthy, constantly growing, and with good appetites, but he does not keep food before the young chicks all the time as do some poultrymen.

Yards seeded to alfalfa alternate with cultivated ground, and the birds are shifted from one to the other. Twice a day—morning and night—they have grain, and at noon green stuffs. In between the growing stock has what he calls a "buttermilk mash," the buttermilk affording insurance against bowel trouble. Into that mash he puts any special food they may chance to need.

As he conducts it, poultry—or,
rather, egg production—is a profitable business and he certainly has a fine situation on the five-acre Maier Ranch which he plans to bring up to a capacity of 10,000 hens a year.

He and Mrs. Michelin have a pretty home in a green bungalow, over which pink roses and blue plumbago riot in a climb to the eaves, where just at present they are furnishing a lovely and very Frenchy frieze of blue and pink bloom.

The walk was its own reward, but the discovery of the interesting business hidden away behind a rose hedge made a sort of adventure which may tempt the pedestrian to other excursions in and about Glendale—so rich in possibilities.

TRAIN MEN MEET IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 15.—Problems affecting labor conditions and wage schedules will hold a place of minor importance at the triennial convention of the International Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen which will be held in Columbus for 30 days commencing today.

B. B. Callahan, chairman of the committee in charge of the convention, stated that questions other than the redrafting of the constitution of the brotherhood will be purely incidental.

"Of course wage and labor matters
may come up," he said, "but at present the railroad men have no grievances to publicly broach."

More than 25,000 visitors are expected to be in Columbus for the convention, which will be the largest ever held by the brotherhood. Delegates are here from all sections of the United States and Canada.

One of the features of the opening days will be a huge parade on May 18th, in which more than 10,000 railroad men in "working clothes" will participate.

Among the speakers scheduled to address the meetings of the trainmen are Secretary of Labor William B.
Wilson, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads.

MORE PRECIOUS THAN DIA- MONDS

Most people think that the diamond is the most costly of gems.
This is not true. The ruby, weight for weight, is more valuable. A pigeon's blood ruby weighing five car-ats will sell for five times more than a diamond of the same weight. The greatest ruby mines in the world are at Mogok, in upper Burma, about seventy miles north of Mandalay.
Burma not only produces the finest rubies, but its output is greater than that of all other countries combined.
When the earth containing rubies is taken from the mines it is placed in great revolving tubs. Here it is screened and all loose earth removed by water. The residue is then dumped on the sorting table. A white overseer carefully examines the pile and selects the gems from the worthless debris. A lucky tubful may yield several thousand dollars' worth of rubies. Others yield only a few dollars' worth. The annual output of the mines is valued at about $400,- 000.

TUJUNGA

L. C. Doane and son motored from Berkeley to look after property interests here. The son may remain permanently.

The town meeting held its monthly talk on Monday evening, about thirty being present. The chairman, Mr.
Ashby, gave a short talk on current events. These were followed by the usual discussion on the water question. The committee had nothing new to report, only verifying what it had previously said, so the position is the same as it has been for months.
Nothing definite was done.

Dr. Schmidt, of Los Angeles, purchased the home of Tom Hartley on Los Angeles street through Dean &
Co. on Monday.

Mr. Wright and Mr. Rocky are the first to extract honey in the village, and report the bees as very active and storing plenty of honey. Many swarms have been captured the past week, and the present warm weather is fine for a honey flow.

Mr. Young, who has occupied the Jack Catt house, leaves this week for a higher altitude. He has improved very much during his stay here.

Mrs. Retta Brissenden and daughter, Elizabeth, who have been here the past week packing their goods, left on Tuesday for Ashland, Ore., their new home, where they have taken up a government claim. All their friends wish them success in their new undertaking and are sorry to have them leave Tujunga.

Mr. and Mrs. Scase of Whittier and Mr. and Mrs. Foster of Los Angeles are camping under the oaks on Michigan Highway near the little restaurant.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held on Monday evening, May 19th, at 8 o'clock.
Every member is earnestly invited to be present as business of importance will come before the meeting.

"Never offer favors to people whom you don't know—and seldom to those you do. A lady in the village lived across from a bachelor who was ill and had to do his own cooking, so out of the kindness of her heart she began to send in cooked foods to him.
One day he came to return the dishes she had sent the things in, and instead of thanking her remarked in leaving, "How in h— do you think I can eat all you send to me?" Since that time she has ceased her work of charity, believing in the old adage about "proffered favors."

The Woman's Club will hold its monthly meeting at Bolton Hall Thursday, May 22d, at 2:30 p. m.
Mrs. Darlington will give and demonstrate "Seven Dainty Desserts" unless called from the village, in which case Mrs. Dean will fill her place with "Russia During the Reign of Nicholas the Second." This to be followed by the usual lesson in Political Economy. Mrs. Yarnell reader, and discussion by the members.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Dean were in Burbank on Thursday.

Miss Olive Dimond, Miss Frances Dimond, Miss Kate Sumner and Mrs.
Addie Pettengill, who are occupying the Parcher house on Stephens Way, were in San Diego this week sightseeing and also at Catalina for a few days. The ladies are all from Boston, Mass., and are enjoying life in the hills with frequent side trips.

The Glorietta Heights School closed this week for the summer vacation, appropriate exercises being held at Bolton Hall on Thursday. On Friday evening the Woman's Guild entertained teachers and pupils at a 6:00 o'clock tea. The graduates were three girls, Aileen La Rue, Virginia Petrotta and Marcellina Shaner.

Mr. Tsherbelie, who resides on the Burlingame place, was the first to bring in comb honey.

Dr. Hatch is spending some time at his home on San Ysidro Road.

C. E. Woodside and wife of Hollywood, are camping on Greenly street, opposite the Holmes cottage.

Mrs. Wieman, who has been quite ill for a short time, is again able to be about.

Bert Begue arrived home a short time ago, and Frank was expected this week. Joe Foster is expected soon, but at present is with his mother at Erie, Pa., awaiting the settling up of affairs so she can accompany him to Tujunga.

NEW POSITION ON TEAM

Neighbor—They tell me your son is on the college football team. Do you know what position he plays?
Proud Mother—I'm not sure, but I think he's one of the drawbacks.

DEAD AMERICAN RULES CON- FERENCE

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS. (By Mail).—Stephen Lausanne, editor of "Le Matin," considers that it will be impossible ever to reconcile the Monroe Doctrine with the idea of a League of Nations. He said in Le Matin:

"If things continue to go as they are going now Monroe will finish the biggest figure in the Peace Conference. At present his is the only figure before which everybody bows.

"Who was Monroe?
"Monroe was born in a carpenter shop and as time went on, engaged in most all the trades. He was colonel, lawyer, merchant, judge, ambassador, Secretary of State. Moreover, he did all of them well.

"In 1817 he became President of the United States.

"About that time a political tempest was blowing strong in the Old World. United under the Name of the 'Holy Alliance,' the European governments talked of nothing less than the establishment of an absolutism, first in Europe, then in America.

"Monroe saw storm-clouds coming his way and called his old friend, Thomas Jefferson, philosopher and friend of the French Philosophers' d'Alembert and Condorcet, to a consultation. Whereupon Jefferson wrote:

"America, both North and South, has interests absolutely distinct from those of Europe and which belong to her alone. It is necessary, therefore, to establish the principles of a system which shall keep these interests separate from those of the Old World. While the latter is trying to make itself the home of despotism our hemisphere is trying to make itself the land of Liberty."

"Monroe found the suggestion good, so on Dec. 2, 1823, in an address to Congress at Washington, he put the idea into slightly different words. He said:

"Our politics has always consisted, and always should consist, in taking no part in European wars. Also we have always abstained from intervening in the affairs of the colonies or dependencies of European nations and we shall continue so to do.
But for those which have won their independence and obtained recognition as states, we can not but consider as an act hostile to the United States any intervention having for its object the oppression or control in any manner whatever, of the destinies of these same."

"There it was! It was done! A new doctrine was born.

"Now is this Doctrine of Monroe violated by the League of Nations project?

"It seems to me monumentally paradoxical and a trifle infantile to pretend the contrary.

"When the Executive Council of the League of Nations fixes 'the reasonable limits of the armament of Peru,' when it shall demand information concerning the naval program of Brazil (Art. 8 of the Covenant); when it shall tell Argentina what shall be the measure of the 'contribution to the armed forces to protect the signatures of the social Covenant (Art. 16); when it shall demand the immediate registration of the treaty between the United States and Canada at the seat of the League, it will control, whether it wills or no, the destinies of America. And when the American States shall be obliged to take a hand in every war or menace of war in Europe (Art. 11), they will necessarily fall afoul of the fundamental principle laid down by Monroe which was that Americans should never take part in a European
war."

"If the League takes in the world, then Europe must mix in the affairs of America; if only Europe is included, then America will violate of necessity her own doctrine by intermixing in the affairs of Europe."
